

Jacques Dumery, France

jacques.dumery@gmail.com jacquesdumery.com

Originally, the Human (homo erectus) was drinking in a natural bowl made with its 2 jointed hands. Later on, when he discovered the fire and the clay, the first utilitary piece he made, was a bowl. When I lurned wheeling from Dalloun the first piece I made, was a bowl. Thince that day I continue creating Chawans, this marvellous object can be carried out through so many versions according to my humour and meetings with famous ceramists as Nany Champy, Jeff Shapiro, Akira Sataké and Shozo Michikawa. Today, I am 80 years old and I stil continue making Chawan usually covered with Shino glaze .

